【題目】Interdisciplinary Studies: Literature, Ethics and History.

【到達目標】The course is aimed at allowing students to come to a fuller appreciation of the many and varied interrelationships between the three areas of literature, ethics and history, and to pursue their individual interests within the broad framework of these overlapping fields.

【講義内容】The nature of the human experience and the essence of human individuality need to be approached from more than one angle if their full richness is to be revealed.
